ABSTRACT

This is the 1980 edition of a directory to library systems and their member libraries in New York State compiled from information supplied by directors of the systems and state departments or agencies administering library programs. Listings are arranged regionally and alphabetically by the name of the Reference and Research Library Resources Systems designation. In each section of this part of the directory there is full information for (1) the Reference and Research Library System; (2) the several public library systems; and (3) state institution branches which may have libraries. Basic information for each type of library system includes the name of the director, address of the system, telephone and teletype numbers, year of establishment, names of principal staff, name of the president of the board of trustees, names of participating counties, and number of member libraries. Addresses and telephone numbers are provided for all member institutions and libraries. For the first time, the directory also includes information on pilot projects established in 1979 pursuant to newly created provisions of state law. Maps are provided throughout. (RAA)

INTRODUCTION

This Directory of Library Systems in New York State is compiled from information supplied by directors of the systems, and State departments or agencies administering library programs. Information in this Directory was checked and changes were made up through December 1, 1979.

Listings are arranged regionally and alphabetically by the name of the Reference and Research Library Resoucrces Systems. In each section of this part of the directory, there is full information for (1) the reference and research library system; (2) the several public library systems; and (3) State institution branches which may have libraries. Locations for systems may be identified by Table of Contents on page iv or by the maps on pages vi or vii.

Basic information for each type of library system is presented in a generally parallel format. This gives for each the name of the director, address of the system, telephone and teletype numbers, year of establishment, names of principal staff, name of the president of the system board of trustees, the name of each county participating in the system, and the number of member libraries.

Addresses are given for all member institutions and libraries. In the case of public library systems members and State institutions, the city is not repeated if the name of the city appears as part of, or preceding, the library or institution name in which case is italicized. Telephone numbers are given for each library this year also. Listings for State institutions include the State department of which each is a part.

For the first time this Directory includes information on the pilot projects established in 1979 pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 787 of the Laws of 1978. The map on page 109 shows the location of the two regional networks for intersystem cooperation and the 12 school library systems. Following the map there is information on the school library system pilot projects arranged by regional network, followed by that for the five school library system pilots which are not yet members of regional networks.

Detailed statistical information on public libraries and institution libraries is available in separate publications. A separate directory of college and university libraries is also published. The Education Department also publishes the Directory of Public Schools and Administrators annually.

We thank those persons who supplied information for this edition and those who forwarded comments on the format of previous editions. During the planning of this Directory, changes and modifications were made in accordance with several of the suggestions received. We invite comments on this edition.

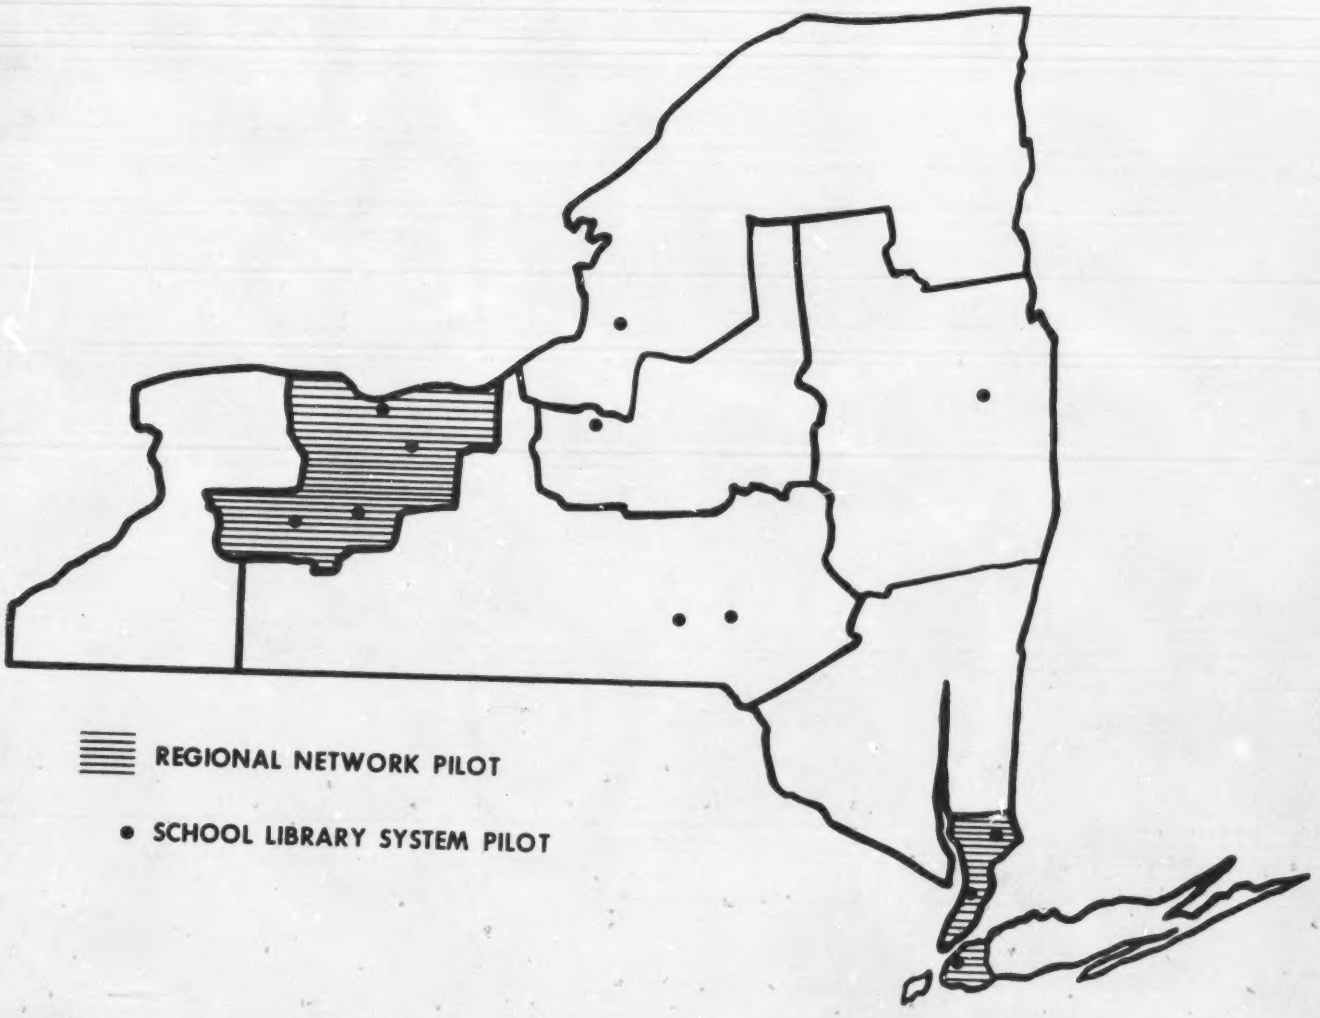
SCHOOL LIBRARY PILOT PROJECTS



Chapter 787 of the Laws of 1978 authorized the development of school library systems and regional networks to align these new systems with the public library systems and the reference and research library resources systems. Twelve system pilot projects, four being interrelated in the Rochester Area Resources Exchange (RARE) and three in INTERSHARE which is co-terminous with the New York Metropolitan Reference & Research Library Agency (METRO), became operational in 1979. The developing school library systems can share special services and materials among their respective members while the two regional network pilots will make possible cooperative practices among all types of libraries in their respective areas. Each pilot project is expected to run until March 31, 1982.

On the following pages the regional networks appear alphabetically with their members followed by the five independent systems with their members. The format for each entry is similiar to that for 3R's regions and public library systems.
